Williamson Sets Hearing Jan. 10
PSC Commissioner Holds One-Day Session on Train Service

At the conclusion of the hearing Tuesday before the Public Service Commission on the elimination of trains and further curtailment of service on the West Shore railroad between Westbury and Albany, Hearing Commissioner Williamson announced that at the next adjourned date the commission would attempt to conclude the hearing. Williamson announced that the matter would come on again at 10 a. m. on January 10 and the following day would be held open in case the matter could not be concluded in one day.

Prior to the adjournment to January 10, William R. Main, trainmaster at Westbury, stated that arrangements have been made to handle the Christmas rush of mail and express and that the customary extra trains and extra cars would be added to handle the holiday rush of passengers. Mr. Main stated that about December 1, ten extra mail and express trains would be added to handle the holiday movements, but these trains would not carry passengers. Five of the trains would be extra in and out of Kingston. This statement was made by Main after County Attorney Fred Stang had asked for a statement by the railroad as to its intentions during the Christmas holiday season when there is a large movement of passengers, including students returning from colleges.

During the afternoon session there flared up a discussion as to whether train No. 26, eliminated entirely due to the coal situation, would ever be restored to service. Train No. 26 is one of the trains involved in the present petition and was discontinued between Albany and Kingston last September. Recently when the coal shortage developed the railroad took it off entirely during the emergency.

Asks "Understanding"
Stang requested "some understanding" with the railroad as to its position on No. 26, stating that if the railroad has no intention of restoring the train, then he would move to amend his present petition to include objection to "total discontinuance" of the train.

William Stevens, counsel for the railroad, retorted that if Stang would delete the Brotherhood from Railroad Traders as parties in his petition, then he would present to an amendment of the petition. Stevens said the Brotherhood was not involved in the present controversy. It was a question of "necessity and public convenience" in which the Brotherhood was not involved.

Commissioner Williamson stated that the train had been discontinued due to the coal shortage and that was the apparent reason for discontinuance of No. 26. He intimated that until the coal situation changes and there is reason to reinstate the train, it would not be restored.

GOP Attack To Be Based On Welfare

Doubts Said to Exist About What Angles to Declare in Policy Statement

Problem Is Tough
Chairman Has Offered Difficult Nut to Be Cracked

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—An attack on President Truman's welfare program, seemed likely today to become the central theme of any Republican policy statement aimed at the 1950 campaign. Serious doubts exist here that the minority party can agree (1) on whether it ought to write a new platform for the Congressional campaign and (2) what any such declaration should contain.

While he said he himself is assailed by these doubts, Senator Smith (R-N.J.) told a reporter he thinks the one thing most Republicans can agree upon is opposition to these Truman proposals which the G.O.P. claims would amass more government authority in Washington and provide "hand-outs" for the people at excessive cost.

"I think most of us are opposed to what is called the Welfare State, where the people lose the initiative and the government takes over the direction of everything," the New Jersey Senator said.

Smith, a former member of the G.O.P. National Committee, said he thinks National Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson has handed Republicans one of their toughest problems in asking them to decide whether there should be a policy statement and, if so, what it should contain.

Gabrielson, wrote Republican governors, state and county chairmen and national committeemen yesterday asking for grass roots expression of views that could be used before a committee he will name to study the platform question.

Smith said he could see a lot of practical difficulties ahead in attempting to compromise the viewpoints of Republicans who are split widely over many domestic and foreign issues.

"I am afraid that, as long as we are the minority party, we are going to have to feel our way very carefully on many of these issues," he said.

Must Be Convinced
Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who heads the party's Policy Committee in the Senate, is one of those who remains to be convinced it would be wise for the G.O.P. to attempt to draft a set of principles now.

However, he left little doubt in a report to Ohio voters yesterday that he intends to make what he called the Truman administration's "hand-out state" an issue in his campaign for reelection to the Senate next year.

Coming out against future foreign aid spending, Taft called for a sloping off in Marshall Plan outlays so that an effort could be made to balance the budget in 1951 without additional taxes.

Assessing that continued red ink spending would bring a depression-breeding inflation, Taft drew a line.

Biggs Got to Harmon, Ma Took Him Home

Harmon, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Arthur Biggs, who stowed away on a plane several weeks ago in an effort to get to Hollywood to become a singing cowboy, had made a second try this time by train. The plane took him as far as St. Louis. The trainman put him off here, only a few miles up the Hudson river from New York.

Arthur entered a New York Central express train at Grand Central Station in New York Monday afternoon. He took a seat beside an older passenger and the fact that he didn't have a ticket wasn't discovered until the train neared Harmon.

Turned over to Croton police, Arthur said he had no particular destination. He gave his address as 225 East 68th street, New York. His mother came up by train Monday evening and took him home.

Painter Is Sought On Kidnap Charge; Wife Is Missing

Boy He Forced Into Trip Says Brooks Left Woman Struggling in Lake Ontario

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—A kidnaping warrant today spurred a far-flung hunt for Nicholas Brooks, 30-year-old house painter accused of forcing a 15-year-old boy to accompany him to Oklahoma.

Both local police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation pressed the search as the U. S. Coast Guard began this morning to comb the Lake Ontario shoreline for clues to the whereabouts of Brooks' missing wife, Gilda.

The boy, Thomas D. Blitely, Jr., told police Brooks left his 25-year-old wife struggling in Lake Ontario the night of Nov. 3.

Detective Chief Emil Lambrose of Rochester said he had telephoned police in Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Mo., Chicago, and a number of other cities in the Midwest to solicit their help in the search for Brooks.

Oklahoma City police had reported Brooks, last seen there Saturday, had been traced to Kansas City.

The kidnap warrant was issued yesterday by Judge James F. Sheenan at the request of Lambrose. Brooks also is charged with grand larceny in another warrant stemming from an allegedly illegal car trade.

Lambrose has quoted the boy as telling the following story: Brooks forced him at gunpoint to drive the motor and his wife here, firing a shot into the floor of the car as a scare, then he forced Mrs. Brooks and the boy to walk out on a pier at the mouth of the river.

Thomas Withdraws Not Guilty Plea Of Payroll Padding
Judge Dismisses Charge Against Secretary; Sentencing to Be December 9

Washington, Nov. 30 (AP)—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) today withdrew his plea of not guilty to charges of payroll padding, and threw himself on the mercy of the court.

The 54-year-old legislator changed his plea to one of not contending. That means he does not contest the government's charge.

With this startling development, Judge Alexander M. Holtzoff dismissed a charge against Miss Helen Campbell, former secretary to Thomas. She was accused of conspiring with Thomas to defraud the government through padding of the lawmaker's office payroll.

Holtzoff set December 9 for sentencing of Thomas. Thomas faces a possible maximum sentence of 32 years in jail and $40,000 in fines.

Pending the sentencing, Thomas was allowed his continued freedom under present bond of $1,000. Holtzoff said that since Miss Campbell seemed to have acted merely as an employee of Thomas, he would dismiss the charges against her.

John R. Fitzpatrick, lawyer for Miss Campbell, had contented at the outset of the trial on Monday that every act of Miss Campbell was under "compulsion" from Thomas due to their employee-employer relationship.

Fitzpatrick told the court then it was true that Miss Campbell had arranged for a niece, Myra Midkiff, and her maid, Arnette Minor, to go on Thomas' payroll. The government contended that neither ever did any real work; that their salary checks were deposited to Miss Campbell's account in a bank here, and that Miss Campbell in turn transferred funds to Thomas' bank account at Allendale, N. J.

Thomas' change of plea came when the government was ready to put Miss Midkiff and Miss Minor on the stand.

The government built up the Midkiff-Minor testimony by going through some House payroll records yesterday and getting the story of the F.B.I. agent who investigated the Thomas case.

Along the way it turned up some testimony that Thomas also had a couple of relatives drawing pay.

There's nothing unusual about congressmen having relatives on the payroll—a lot of them do.

But the F.B.I. agent, Frederick Vechery, said Miss Campbell had told him neither of the Thomas relatives did any work for their pay.

Reappointed

J. EDWARD CONWAY
J. Edward Conway of Kingston will serve a second six-year term on the State Civil Service Commission.

He was reappointed by Governor Dewey yesterday. Conway has been president of the three-member commission since he was first appointed in July, 1935. His term, retroactive to last February, runs until Feb. 1, 1955.

Commission members elect the president. Presumably, Conway will be continued in the post, which pays $15,000 a year.

The commission is the governing body of the Civil Service Department, the state's central personnel agency.

Other members are Louise C. Gorry of Buffalo and Alexander A. Falk of New York city. They receive $10,000 annually.

Conway, 47, a former Ulster county judge, succeeded Miss Grace A. Renow of Cohoes on the commission. He had served eight years in the state assembly before his election as county judge.

He was born in Edenville, Ulster county, and was graduated from Fordham University Law School. He is a Republican.

In the soft coal dispute, the union U.M.W. Policy Committee was scheduled to meet here at 4 p. m. (E.S.T.) today. Lewis, whose moves in the past few days have been shadowed in secrecy, was in New York for the 11th hour session.

Mine owners were reported standing solidly against any contract concessions, and there was no indication of government intervention.

Reports from Key West, where President Truman is vacationing, said presidential advisers apparently were clinging to the hope of an 11th hour resumption of operations between Lewis and the operators which would permit extension of their three-week strike, expiring at midnight.

The policy committee had been directed by Lewis to meet here Monday, but at the last minute the session was postponed until yesterday, and then again until today. Lewis was busy elsewhere.

Hard Coal Talks Are Scheduled

No Indication Is Given Government Plans Intervention

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—John L. Lewis again today postponed a meeting of his United Mine Workers Policy Committee until tomorrow morning, too late to avert a new nationwide soft coal strike due tonight.

Committee Annals Ward
New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—The strike of the nation's soft coal road workers went into its last hours today.

Only a last-minute move by John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Policy Committee seemed likely to avert a new work-out at midnight.

But new hard coal wage talks were scheduled in the meantime. Ralph E. Taggart, chairman of the Anthracite Operators Wage Agreement Committee, announced that he and Lewis have agreed to reconvene in talks here Dec. 6. They last met in Philadelphia on July 7.

The policy committee had been directed by Lewis to meet here Monday, but at the last minute the session was postponed until yesterday, and then again until today. Lewis was busy elsewhere.

Lewis abandoned his advance policy of "no contract to work" when the miners' agreement with the operators expired last June 30.

A short work week and a 52-day strike were interrupted on Nov. 9 by Lewis' offer to go back to work. The move was issued after a meeting of the Policy Committee in Chicago Nov. 9.

The United Mine Workers sent word Monday and again yesterday that he would prefer to have his followers back home while he tried to force a new contract out of the very cold negotiations which have occupied the soft coal operators and union officials for months.

Lewis offered no explanation for postponing the meeting. But he apparently decided yesterday that another 24-hour postponement was justified, as direct talks with major coal operators were reported in the making.

Ulster to Have Own Chapter Of Good Roads

The Ulster county chapter of the New York Good Roads Association will probably have close to 350 charter members by the time of its organization meeting at the Kingston City Hall at 8 p. m. Thursday, December 8. This was forecast today by Charles H. Sells, executive director of the association on the basis of new members enrolled during the past few days.

"There is every indication," Sells said, "that the people of Ulster county are anxious to get good roads upon which to travel. The New York Good Roads Association has been organized to help the people achieve that goal. It is a non-partisan, non-political organization which is dedicated to just one purpose—the procurement for the people of good, safe roads which will contribute so much to their economic welfare and their traveling safety and comfort as well."

James F. Loughran is chairman of the Ulster County Citizens Committee which is arranging for the Good Roads chapter organization meeting. He will preside at next Thursday night's sessions. Assisting him as members of the committee are Warren Knaust, William Palmer, Ted Koch, E. A. Slouidun, Lester Sturge, G. W. Goffredo, Gordon Craig, Guy Cochran, Henry Snyder and H. G. Krum.

All residents of Ulster county who are members of the New York Good Roads Association or who are interested in obtaining good roads are invited to attend the chapter formation meeting.

Up to now the United States has exploded eight atomic weapons. Two of them were dropped in wartime on the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the others exploded in the initial pre-attack test at Alamogordo, N. M., in the 1946 tests at Bikini and Eniwetok.

It was clear that the forthcoming Eniwetok tests are to test fire-works improved in design and efficiency even since the 1946 explosions. The U.S.C. has pointed out that in addition to the computations of scientists and laboratory-room experiments, "the need for proof testing or the need for full scale experiments is a natural requirement."

Also, there was the recent television broadcast by Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.). He talked of new bombs "six times the effectiveness of the bomb we dropped on Nagasaki" and of "considerable progress" toward perfecting a "super bomb" with 1,000 times the effect of the Nagasaki bomb. It wasn't clear whether Johnson meant these already tested in the 1946 Eniwetok experiments were six times as powerful or whether he was talking of some yet to be proof-fired.

References to bombs of any type—conventional explosive or atomic—being six or any other number of times as powerful are tricky. A bomb may have six times the blasting power, but this does not mean that the area of

Seven Are Indicted on Charge Of Trying to Smuggle Plane
Newark, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—A former Army Air Force colonel and six other men have been indicted for trying to smuggle a surplus B-25 to Europe during the Israel-Arab fighting late last year.

First Assistant U. S. Attorney Charles J. Tyne said the leader of the international group was the airforce colonel, Terrill J. Murrell, of New York.

The indictment, handed up yesterday by a Federal Grand Jury, charges the seven men with fraudulently trying to deliver a two-engine Mitchell B-25 bomber to England.

Tyne said the group bought the surplus plane in St. Louis and ferried it to Newark Airport, where they gave false affidavits to customs inspectors.

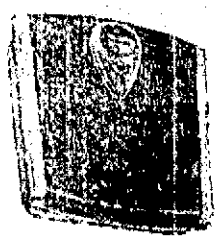

Then, with a British crew aboard, the plane was cleared for London, Tyne said, but was turned back at Albany, N. Y., by bad weather late last year.

Tyne said customs inspectors at Albany got suspicious of the crew's papers and ordered the B-25 back to Newark for further investigation. U. S. District Judge Thomas P. Monney then signed an order impounding the plane. The British crew was allowed to go back home.

O. & W. Has Become Victim Of Cars, Buses in Recent Years

By JOHN RANDOLPH
New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—The New York, Ontario and Western Railway, up for bankruptcy sale in Federal Court, is the victim of other people's progress.

Back in the 1920's, New Yorkers were overjoyed when they started taking cars and buses to vacation spots like Sullivan county—instead of waiting for a train.

But it just about wrecked the O. & W.'s passenger business.

Householders were tickled to death in the 1930's when those nice automatic oil burners came along—and they could quit shoveling coal into a furnace all winter. But it practically ruined the O. & W.'s coal business, which was its biggest money-maker.

And all during the same period farmers and merchants were finding how convenient it was to have the new trucking lines bring small freight shipments right to the door.

But it was deadly competition.

Quick Relief from Pile Irritation

40 years ago a Buffalo druggist created an ointment to relieve itching, smarting piles. It brought such quick cooling, soothing, anesthetic relief that its name spread across the land making Peterson's Ointment a favorite in thousands of homes. Ask your druggist today for the box or 70¢ application tube. Peterson's Ointment—delights of memory back.

for the O. & W., which was fighting like grim death to get and share of what freight business was left.

Tough on Big Ones Too

All these developments were tough on the big railroads, too. Being big, however, they could pull in a little here and let out a little there. But the O. & W. is a shortline railroad—operating only 544 miles of track between New York harbor and Oswego on Lake Ontario. There was only one place for it left to go, and that was bankruptcy court. It got there in 1937.

Ever since then the little railroad has been scrambling to build up new freight business to replace the old. It's done surprisingly well in the face of cut-throat competition from the highways. But it's like asking in professional weight-lifting, suddenly take on a juggling act—and it's never taken the O. & W. out of the red.

But even so, I still think this railroad has a future, the operating trustee, Raymond L. Gehardt, says.

"It's all tied up with general business conditions. If business pulls out of this slack period it's been in, and picks up speed, I think the O. & W. can get along."

His fellow trustee, Ferdinand J. Sieghart, who has been hustling freight business, agrees with him. But it may be a different-looking O. & W. that will "get along."

The road is up for sale in 13 separate portions, and parts might go to different bidders. They must agree to operate them for five years, but the parts might be realigned with other rail systems.

Of course if no suitable bids are received, Federal Judge Edward A. Conroy will reject them and leave the railroad as it is under the two trustees.

Considering its present plight, the O. & W. got off to a flying start when it was incorporated in 1880.

The object of the road then was to connect Lake Ontario shipping to the New York city area, and tap the freight business of the state's interior. The railroad was planned from north to south, rather than the other way round.

The operation was apparently successful enough, but 10 years later the O. & W. hit a real bonanza—anthracite coal. This was the clean hard coal that home-owners wanted more than anything else for winter fuel. It had none of the sooty, smudgy dust of soft coal, and it burned with a hotter flame.

In 1890 the O. & W. took control of two big coal companies on the Scranton hard coal area of Northeastern Pennsylvania—the Scranton Coal Co. and the Elk Hill Coal and Iron Co.

Subsidiary Line

It built a subsidiary rail line south from Cadosia to tap the coalleries, and found itself steady, simple, cheap and very profitable freight business shuttling the anthracite from Pennsylvania to New York and the New England States.

At the same time, Sullivan county and nearby areas opened up as resort centers. The O. & W. was right on hand with another branch line to handle the business. Trains full of vacationists rolled merrily to Monticello, and Port Jervis, and the cash rolled into the O. & W.

This lasted for nearly 40 years. Look at the figures: 1926 was the best passenger year with ticket revenue of $2,629,000. Then came the family automobile. Last year the O. & W. took in only $184,000 from passengers.

But the body blow was the collapse of the anthracite business. In 1932, in the very depths of the depression, the O. & W. had its biggest and most profitable coal-hauling year with coal revenue a whopping $5,845,000.

It started to drop a bit, but in 1936 it was still a very cozy $3,138,000.

Then the blow fell. Turnout in the coal fields and the onset of the oil burner turned the public away from anthracite. The O. & W.'s coal revenue crashed from more than $5,000,000 a year to $2,946,000. It was too much for the little road. It suspended its bond payments and went into bankruptcy itself. Coal revenue continued to drop. Last year it was only $1,400,000.

Even the O. & W. has abandoned coal for its locomotives—it was the first line in the country to go 100 per cent diesel in order to save money.

Have Tried All Tricks

During the last 12 years the trustees have tried every trick of the trade to build up business in carload freight and milk hauling. The general merchandise revenue of $2,393,000 in 1937 was pushed up to $3,808,000 last year. But good as it is, it's not enough to close the gap left by the coal collapse.

Merchants and public officials in all the towns served by the O. & W. will agree with the trustees that the road has its place. Some of them even talk of "ghost towns" if the line suspends. It would cut several of them off from any rail service whatever. Loss their merchants carload-lot discounts, and give trucks a monopoly. Middletown would lose its O. & W. shops and 400 jobs. Oswego would lose its best waterfront connection.

Move money put into the road would improve its service and possibly bring more business or at least make for more efficient operation. Up to now the O. & W. has had nothing but deficits.

But a new owner or owners might be able to supply the lack. The bids, if they are acceptable, to the court, may well end the railroad as the O. & W. But they may also open up a new future for it in another form.

ATOMIC BLASTING

It would be wonderful if full belief could be given to Andrei Vishinsky's story that Russia is already using atomic energy for peaceful construction. He said atomic explosives are being used to blast passageways through mountains, to divert rivers and water the deserts. This is a magnificent story; it is not, however, original with Vishinsky. It first came out of Russia on the lips of a refugee army officer, who said the atomic explosion detected by United States scientists and announced by President Truman in September was really not a bomb test but an explosion in a project to divert streams from the Caspian Sea to the arid land eastward. This tale was embraced first by Russian newspapers and then by Vishinsky.

A scientific eyebrow must be raised at the story. Unless Russian research is far ahead of any generally known in America, it would not be possible to use atomic explosives for such gigantic land-blasting projects without leaving radio-activity which would poison the land and the waters flowing through the man-made channels, for an indefinite period. (Perhaps the Soviet government, with its peculiar attitude toward people, might be able to ignore the effects of this poisoning on workers going into the blasted areas.)

If Russia really has discovered a way to use atomic explosives safely, an important milestone has been passed. But Americans can hardly be blamed for reaching for the salt-cellar. This needs more than a grain.

Examining the story coldly, the observer finds that Vishinsky used its telling as the occasion to state that Russia will not submit to any international control of the production of atomic materials for peaceful use. Apparently Russia is only taking a new tack in its opposition, to any effective system for international management of atomic energy.

THE MOST DANGEROUS TREE

What is the most dangerous tree in the world? According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, it's that symbol of Yuletide cheer and good will—the Christmas tree. And the long and tragic record of deaths, injuries and maimings—many to children—caused by holiday fires fully bears out that statement.

This certainly doesn't mean that you should not have a Christmas tree. You should. But it does mean that certain elementary precautions should be followed to the letter, and kept constantly in mind.

It is recommended, for instance, that you buy a small tree—it is less hazardous. It should be placed well away from radiators, heaters, and the fireplace. Candles should never be used on the tree under any circumstances. Use only electric light sets which carry the seal of approval of the Underwriters' Laboratories—it guarantees that the sets meet the proper safety standards.

Don't use paper, cotton or other flammable materials for decoration. If extension cords are necessary, be sure they're in good condition—frayed wiring is a potent cause of electrical fires. Never leave the lights burning when the house is unoccupied. Dispose of gift wrappings promptly—they're a real menace inside the house. Be especially careful with matches and smoking materials. And, finally, get rid of your tree as soon as the needles begin to fall. That means it's dry and ready to burst into flame.

Christmas isn't far off. It's time now to make plans for a holiday season which will be safe as well as joyous. And once they're made, stick with them.

MOLOTOV'S BAGGAGE

In 1942 when Molotov, then Russian Foreign Minister and still the No. 2 man of the Soviet Union, visited the White House, he carried perhaps the most extraordinary luggage ever brought in by the representative of a great country. As Mrs. Roosevelt tells it in her book about her husband, "This I Remember," a White House valet unpacked Molotov's bag, and found in it "a large chunk of black bread, a roll of sausage and a pistol". Evidently, even at the top of the Russian

HOW TO WASTE MONEY

President Dwight Eisenhower of Columbia University, speaking before the Nutrition Foundation, told of how he had tried to get a sizable contribution for Columbia University from a very wealthy family, which can leave a part of their possessions either to charity or to the government in accordance with the inheritance tax law. They turned him down, having already determined, like Andrew Carnegie before them, to leave their accumulations to peace.

This means that in due course, there will be another committee, some more paid employees, a lot of futile research and innumerable publications, all to the end that peace is good, a conclusion long since reached by Isaiah, Micah and Confucius to no avail. As President Eisenhower pointed out so correctly, more peace could be accomplished by increasing the yield per acre of food crops than in all this committing, but it seems more attractive to talk big words than to do consequential but unattractive deeds. Words seem to mean so much more than they should.

Andrew Carnegie worried hard on the subject of peace, as did Henry Ford and other wise men. But they overlooked some curious characteristics of the human race, which does not live by words alone. One is that man abhors static conditions. New peoples, new races of man seek to enjoy not only the power but the fruits of older civilizations. No Roman could have imagined that the barbarians whom Caesar conquered would one day call themselves Englishmen, speak a Latin-Teutonic jargon, and rule the world from Elizabeth, the contemporary of Shakespeare, to George of today. Nor would an Englishman of Elizabeth's day imagine that the bewhiskered Moscovite would one day become the chief contender for place, not with England, which is by-passed, but with America, which was a fantasy of Sir Walter Raleigh.

In fact, Elizabeth was most concerned with Spain which was then the greatest of the powers, but whose destiny was to be wrecked off the Irish coast by a wind, as Napoleon's hopes were later to be shattered by rain and Hitler's by snow. It is amazing what things count in history, the smile of a wicked woman or the hunger of mothers watching their babies die. The Old Dowager Empress of China could never have believed that Russia would one day conquer China with the assistance of an American President, and a British Prime Minister sitting in the salubrious climate of the Crimea, talking to the son of a Georgian alcoholic.

This is the stuff out of which wars come, as Alexander Sachs, economist and philosopher, who stirred up the making of the atom bomb, must realize. The peace societies have never found a formula for ending wars except the Kellogg-Briand Pact, invented by Professor James Shotwell of Columbia University, whose name is not attached to the formula because politicians like not only to be famous and to enjoy power but to give the impression of scholarship. Always professors have been the ghost-writers for kings, as far back as the time when kings could not even read much less write.

Shotwell's formula to outlaw war as an instrument of national policy was wrecked when the Japanese went into Manchuria in 1931; a deed that was as much due to Sun Po's distrust of T. V. Soong as to any other cause. Mussolini then finished the job on the formula by sending Italy into Ethiopia which might have been avoided were it not that Mussolini and Anthony Eden hated each other. Had these wars ever not occurred, World War II might not have taken place. Who knows? It might have come anyhow. But had there been no World War II, Russia would not be mistress of half the world, and Harry Truman might not have been President of the United States.

What all this means is that the human race involves itself in all sorts of silly activities and these often end in disaster. The peace societies, such as President Eisenhower proposed, than to writing more books, pamphlets and mimeographs to prove that peace is good. Nobody disagrees. It is like saying, you sinners, that sin is bad.

VARICOSE VEINS

Although "new look" dresses are still with us, there seems to be a tendency to shorten women's dresses, which means that some women will again be embarrassed because of one or more varicose veins.

In "Health," Canada's National Health Magazine, Dr. Josephus C. Luke gives us some of the latest information on varicose veins. All of us are born with two main sets of veins running in the fatty tissue of the leg just beneath the skin. These upper and lower sets of veins are connected by the veins in the deeper tissue of the leg. The veins of the legs have little valves, like cups, to prevent the flow of blood downward when the individual is standing on his feet.

Dr. Luke points out that the reason some men and women can remain on their feet for hours at a time without developing varicose veins and others develop varicose veins with the same amount of standing, is because the latter inherited weak veins, just as we can inherit weak or poor arteries.

While many with varicose, and even unsightly varicose veins, have no symptoms, others have a heavy, full, tired and aching pain in the leg below the knee. Some also have cramps in the legs at night.

In examining recruits for World War I, we rejected those with varicose veins because we felt that if they had developed varicose veins in civilian life, they would be even more likely to develop them in military life. As the injection treatment had a poor standing at that time, some recruits underwent operation in order to be accepted for service. Unfortunately they did not get enough rest before going on full duty and so their veins broke down.

The present day treatment as outlined by Dr. Luke is (a) the use of an elastic stocking which squeezes the dilated veins, an effective method, but a nuisance to the wearer in warm weather, (b) the injection treatment in certain selected cases, (c) surgery, and (d) a combination of surgery and injection methods.

If varicose veins are present, your physician can make tests to find out if the deep veins will carry the blood back toward the heart should the upper or surface veins be removed by surgery or injections.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Unfortunately it is not illegal for a congressman to keep a soldier from seeing combat duty—and then collect a political campaign fund from his family. If this were illegal, Congressman Parnell Thomas would be tried for another offense in addition to taking kickbacks on the salaries which Uncle Sam meant for his office staff.

In 1944, when Congressman Thomas was up for re-election, he received a contribution of $250 from Herman Kimmel of Long Beach, N. Y., which is, of course, outside the Congressman's New Jersey district. Again in 1946, when the congressman faced a primary election, he received another $100 from the same Kimmel.

New Jersey voters had no way of knowing what was behind these two contributions, but here are the interesting, un-American facts. Most people have forgotten it, but Thomas was not only chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee, but also a member of the House Military Affairs Committee, which passed on army legislation, therefore, had great weight with the War Department.

In 1943, private Edward Allen Kimmel, serial No. 32801902, son of the above Herman Kimmel, faced shipment overseas to combat duty. So Congressman Thomas telephoned the Second Service Command in New York and informed them that young Kimmel was an undercover agent for the Un-American Committee, therefore had to be kept close to the New York area. Accordingly, Col. C. E. Miller, director of personnel for the Second Service Command, transferred Kimmel from Camp Upton, N. Y., and assigned him as an investigator of the Internal Security Division in New York.

Army Gets Skeptical
 A few days later, Colonel Miller asked Kimmel to drop in to see him and seemed surprised that he was only 18 years old, had no experience as an investigator, in fact was merely a student at New York University before entering the army.

Skeptical, Colonel Miller telephoned Congressman Thomas's office and reported that Kimmel said he had never met Thomas, had never worked for the Un-American Activities Committee.
 To patch up these crossed wires, the congressman immediately sent Ray Rockefeller, an investigator for the Un-American Activities Committee, to see Colonel Miller. However, Colonel Miller remained skeptical. He kept private Kimmel in Internal Security only 18 days, but did not transfer him overseas. Instead, he was assigned to the Broadway Central Hotel in New York—a temporary army barracks—and later to Camp Blundell, Fla.

Private Kimmel did not go overseas. His buddies did, many never to come back.
 Waiting a very scant time after performing this priceless favor, Congressman Thomas attempted to cash in on it. The congressman also operates an insurance agency on the side—Thomas and Godfrey—so, on Sept. 30, 1943, he wrote a letter to Private Kimmel's father, introducing his insurance partner.

"This will introduce my partner, Spencer K. Godfrey," Thomas wrote to the father of the boy who had been saved from overseas duty. "I know that Godfrey can be helpful to you; at least, I would appreciate any courtesies which you may care to extend him."

The letter got no results. Godfrey sent it back to Thomas with a notation scribbled across the bottom: "This man refused to talk—said he doesn't know you."

Later, however, Kimmel overcame his discretion. And when the Congressman who had kept his son out of combat duty came up for re-election, Kimmel contributed a total of $350.

Charles Duke of Richmond, a son of Charles II, was 3 years old in 1683 when the king granted him a pension amounting to 3 shillings for every ton of coal transported from Newcastle. From 1675 to 1799 the Duke of Richmond received about 10,000 pounds a year in royalties, then the pension was changed into an annuity of 10,000 pounds until 1831, when the Duke was paid 633,000 pounds as a quit-claim. Altogether the pension fund paid the Richmond family a total of two and one-half million pounds, equal in purchasing power to $125,000,000 today.

The above incident was not the only time the congressman from New Jersey used his insurance firm to cash in on favors. For instance, Thomas helped Joseph J. Brunetti, a New Jersey contractor, recover some $40,000 held in escrow by the Federal Housing Administration.

Later, when Brunetti started a huge apartment project in Maywood, N. J., the congressman wrote him a letter and was rewarded with the insurance on Brunetti's business.

The congressman also used a neat scheme for printing stationery for his insurance firm. It was done by the government printing office, paid for out of his congressional stationery allowance. Christmas cards for the firm of Thomas and Godfrey also were printed and paid for by Uncle Sam in the same way.

This did the gentleman who posed as a great American chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee squeeze the dollars not only out of his office staff on swindly kickbacks but out of the government at every turn.

Capital News Capsules
 Those inhospitable Swedes?—The Swedes claim they were merely carrying out Senator Thomas's own request when they failed to roll out the royal carpet for him. The junketing senators sent word from Oslo that when they got to Stockholm they wanted to rest, didn't want to be burdened with a heavy program. Senator Thomas of Oklahoma wired this ahead to the American Embassy in Stockholm, which, in turn, advised the Swedes to lay off.

Phil and Harry—C.I.O. President Phil Murray, who won a first-class contract for the steelworkers without keeping them off the job over four months—as did John L. Lewis—got a big pat-on-the-back from President Truman last week.

"You conducted yourself like a statesman, Phil," said Truman, and the nation is indebted to you. Also, you didn't depend upon the government to carry the bill for you, like some labor leaders I could mention. You won the steel strike yourself, fairly and squarely."

Inefficient Spying—U. S. military leaders aren't happy about the Central Intelligence Agency. They complain the C.I.A. agents have been picking up trivial gossip and even Soviet information deliberately planted by the Kremlin. This is passed on without proper evaluation. Nothing is done, the brass hats grumble, because C.I.A. hides its inefficiency behind an air curtain of secrecy. Maybe the C.I.A. should take a few tips from J. Edgar Hoover.

Articles Under Arnold's Signature Reopen Controversy Over Removal of Denfeld

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 30.—Articles appearing in various newspapers throughout the country under the signature of General J. H. Arnold, retired head of the U. S. Army Air Forces, have reopened the controversy over the removal of Admiral Denfeld as chief of naval operations.

For several weeks it had been believed that a new spirit of harmony was being ushered in among the members of the armed services. No public statements of a controversial nature have been made by any of the spokesmen for the armed services.

Now General Arnold, in effect, accuses Admiral Denfeld of disloyalty and warns congressmen that they must not seek to protect their witnesses from punishment for expressing their views in the future if those witnesses happen to be asked before congressional committees to testify. The veiled attack which the general makes on Chairman Vinson and other members of the House committee who expressed disapproval of the ouster of Admiral Denfeld probably will not go unnoticed by the committee.

General Arnold's articles are written in a style that appears to be different from his speeches and statements of the past, and it is to be assumed that a document of such importance could hardly be published without the knowledge of some important officers in the U. S. Air Force not in retired duty. There is a paragraph in the first Arnold article which conceivably results in a decision on the part of Admiral Denfeld to decline the post of commander of American naval forces in the eastern Atlantic, which has been offered him, and to retire instead.

If the charge of disloyalty made by General Arnold against Admiral Denfeld is accepted as true, then the admiral is really disqualified from ever holding a post of responsibility in the naval service. The paragraph reads as follows:

"In civil life, if a man is in a responsible position shows he is not in accord with the principles and doctrines of his firm or company, he is thrown out, maybe politely, or, perhaps roughly, at once. Judging by some congressional reactions to the relief of Admiral Denfeld, he should have been kept on his job, regardless of how he felt with regard to our approved laws, policies, principles of carrying on war and the views of his superiors. He should be kept on the job just because he appeared before Congress as a witness. Arive to understand, then, that lay-erty in a commercial firm is of a higher standard than in our armed forces? I do not believe the people of the United States want this type of organization in our armed services."

Admiral Denfeld did not desert from the approved laws of the nation. He did not desert any command from his superiors in the pressing his views at the invitation of Congress. He was given permission to testify, and the House Armed Services Committee was specifically notified by the secretary of defense, Louis Denard, that the permission had been granted and that no witnesses would be intimidated or told what to say on the witness stand.

There is nothing in the military law at present on the statute books which gives the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff power to require each of its three members to hold only those views which a two-thirds majority of the joint chiefs may prescribe. The three armed services are still coordinate in rank and Congress alone can be called the true "superior" of the armed services in making policy, with respect to appropriations. The constitution gives the Congress the right to make all rules for the government of the army and navy. It is on the operational side, when once appropriations and broad policies have been fixed by Congress, that the only "superior" who can issue orders to members of the joint chiefs comes into the picture and that is the President. The Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy, Admiral Denfeld never had a conference with the President on these matters nor was he told what he could or could not say to Congress.

To accuse an outstanding naval officer of disloyalty because he does not agree with the joint chiefs of another armed service is to make a grave error, and it is most regrettable that a fine man like General Arnold should have allowed himself to be put in that position by those who evidently considered him on what to say.

If the disloyalty charge is correct, then Secretary Stimson should not now be holding office. For a year he went over the head of the then secretary of defense, the late James Forrestal, and disagreed with the latter's budget and defense policies in testifying before Congress in favor of a regrouping of forces. Mr. Stimson, too, had the permission of the secretary of defense, and said what he pleased, which is an excellent rule in a democracy.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 29.—The pension plans now being negotiated between the labor monopolies of the C.I.O. and a school of industrial managers who may be termed Fascists are imitations of the very systems of Mussolini and Hitler.

It is a strange fact that Americans who loathe the name of Nazism heartily endorse the essentials of national socialism, which is the formal name of Nazism. Our people never realize that Nazism, meaning Hitlerism, actually was just socialism under a strongly nationalistic government. That is what Nazism was, however, and the wonder is that a people who so ardently desire to live under Hitlerism ever could have been misled into a war against Hitler.

When we speak of de-Nazifying the Germans and undertake to bar the Nazis forever from positions of authority in the new, de-fascist Germany, we present a contemptible appearance to the German National Socialists, or Nazis. They are not stupid. They are more intelligent politically than we are.

Hitler's system was copied from Mussolini's and Mussolini's was a system of paternal guardianship over the workers exercised by the unions and the industries together. It was a partnership of big industry, which owned the means of production, and the government, which was well in the industry in Italy and, later, in Germany. By this system, the union and the industry, steel, for instance, made blanket agreements under the general supervision and direction of the national government.

We have a good deal of the already in our country. For example, the United Auto Workers of the C.I.O., an enormous union of motorists, makes an overboard deal with General Motors. To the company and the union bosses, the individual workers are not wanted. The company doesn't want to be bothered with the hiring and firing and discipline and personal problems of individuals. So it makes a contract with the bosses of the union to pay a certain wage for certain work under certain conditions. If necessary, after a certain length of time, the company may lay off its workers and other "benefits" of Fascism or National Socialism or Nazism. It is simple enough to add the expense of this to the retail cost of the product.

Under complete, ideal Fascism or Nazism, which is actually the goal of all the big union monopolies

Questions-Answers

How does the accident rate among farmers in western states compare with that of eastern farmers?

A—Farmers in western states have a higher accident rate than those in the east. The western farm accident rate is 40 a year for every 1,000 farm people. Falls cause the greatest number of accidents on farms.

What was the original membership of the United States House of Representatives?

A—The original House membership was fixed at 65 by the Constitution. At the present time, there are 435 representatives.

Q—Is the Hindu word "Pandit" a title?

A—The Hindu word "Pandit" is both a family name and a title. Pandit means "learned one" and the prime minister is often called Pandit in tribute to his wisdom and scholarship.

Q—Where is Mount Ararat?

A—This traditional site of the landing of Noah's Ark is on the border between Turkey and Iran, near Soviet Armenia.

Q—Can the coat of arms of the United States be used for advertising?

A—The coat of arms of the United States should be used only by those who are authorized by law and custom to do so. Under no circumstances should it or the shield of the United States be used for advertising purposes.

So They Say...

The creation of a permanent, freely trading area comprising 270,000,000 consumers in Western Europe ... would accelerate the development of large-scale, low-cost production industries.

—E.C.A. Administrator Paul Hoffmann

You must give the Germans the feeling they are being trusted, or they will never trust themselves.

—John J. McCloy, U. S. high commissioner for Germany.

The Point Four program to aid world's "underdeveloped areas" is the answer to Communism's five-year plans which demand that the people become slaves of the state.

—Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The assumption that war is inevitable would be a betrayal of the principles upon which our own claim and moral leadership has been established.

—Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas.

This measure (new 75-cent-an-hour minimum wage law) will remove from the sweatshop category some of the most exploited American workers. At the same time the entire economy will benefit from an increase in purchasing power now so badly needed to maintain prosperity.

—Paul Rieve, president, C.I.O. Textile Workers Union.

MALT AND MAHEM

A few hydrants down the street from my theatre there's an old-fashioned suds parlor called Jerry's, and when I stopped by the other night for a mug of 7-Up, the two stools at the far end of the bar were occupied, as usual, by Long George Smiley, a nann with an air of last rites about him, and Sid "The Inch" Perry, an underslung mound of suet.

"What breeds war?" The Inch was saying. "I'll tell you what breeds war. Capitalism breeds war."

"Now I know why Tito and Stalin are throwing those four-letter words at each other," said Long George, "they're fronting for Standard Oil and the House of Morgan."

"Stop talking like a Republican," said The Inch. "War is the pay and Pabulum of Wall Street. Do I make myself clear?"

"You make yourself ridiculous," said George. "What do you think the five million guys in the Russian Army have in their rifles—meat balls?"

"Did I hear one of you gentlemen mention something about meat balls?" said the bartender, speaking from somewhere near his left ear lobe. "If such is the case, forget it—we don't allow no more than two pounds of free lunch to a customer, and you bums already ate up your quota for the week."

"Everything about our economic system is dishonest," said The Inch. "A worker gets short-changed, short-changed and short shrift."

"Maybe you'd like it better down Broshky way where a guy is liable to get short-lived," said George.

"It sounds like you been listening to the lies on the capitalist radio," said The Inch.

"Speaking of lies, what about these wind merchants in the fur hats?" said Long George. "Did you read that last press release from Siberia—the one about slicing up a mountain with an atom bomb?"

"What's wrong with that?" said The Inch. "Would you rather have them slice up a city?"

"Cities, I grant you, look better unsliced," said George, "but when the Russians talk about atomizing mountains, all they're slicing is the well-known Bologna. And I think know why they invented this fancy lie. As long as we had the bomb exclusively, the comrades could call us warmongers and claim we were trying to put a padlock on the world. But now that they've got the big firecracker themselves, by their own definition they're warmongers too. And so, scared that their own propaganda will backfire on them, they've come up with this whopper about using the bomb to move mountains and make rivers change their minds. My hunch, however, is that the only mountain they've moved so far is a mountain of press releases."

The Inch snorted. "You talk as if you'd been hanging out with Bernard M. Baruch."

"I ain't had the honor," said Long George, "but if the peanut gallery will pipe down, I'd also like to point out that sensible folk don't go around blowing up mountains with atomic bombs costing a million per each. For one thing, dynamite is a lot cheaper, and for another, there's a little thing called radio-activity to consider. And while you're considering it, remember the statement of the Chicago professor who said that if one of our 1949-model bombs were exploded over his town, the food all the way down to Guatemala would be contaminated for months."

"Irregardless and apropos," said The Inch, "I insist that war is to capitalism what mother's milk is to a baby."

"Stop making like Johnny Ona-Note," said George. And, the next time you see your buddies in Union Square, you might tell them what Henry Wadsworth Smiley once said—that those who live by the sword shall come to a very pointed end."

The Inch was puzzled. "Who is Henry Wadsworth Smiley?"

"My cousin twice removed," said George, "once to the county jail for passing phony checks, once to the city house of correction for not paying alimony."

"Break it up, boys," said the bartender, "and give the cash customers a chance."

The suds sages finished their beers and headed for the door. The Inch, however, usual to stick an exploratory finger in the pay telephone.

When the swinging doors had stopped swinging, the bartender took a bowl out one of the liquor shelves.

"It's a pleasure to be able to put the pretzels back on the bar," he said.

Lack of Reasoning Loses Little Slam

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Wednesday is duplicate night at the Mayfair Bridge Club, in New York, which club is operated by Mrs. Phyllis Schellenberg and Harry J. Fishbein. That is when you meet most of the celebrities. Today's hand came up recently at one of the duplicates in which there were 18 tables in play.

Nearly all of the North and South players arrived at a six heart contract. When the king of clubs was led the South players ruffed it. Now most of them took two rounds of trump and then cashed the ace and king of diamonds and led the third diamond. They figured if the diamonds did not break they could ruff the fourth diamond.

However, they did not bother to reason that the player who has the four diamonds might also have the third heart. Of course, that is what happened. East won the third diamond and returned a heart. Now the declarer had to lose another diamond.

Fishbein went on to explain, "Couldn't they see that if West has four diamonds to the queen-jack, the hand could never be broken? Therefore, why not make a simple safety play? Take two rounds of trump. Go over to the dummy with the ace of spades and play the ten of diamonds. East should not cover."

"Of course, if he does, all the declarer has to do is to pick up the other trump and lead the nine of diamonds. East will have to win with the queen and now the contract is made."

"If East does not cover the ten of diamonds, then let it ride, thus leaving yourself only one diamond loser, even though West has the queen or jack. All he can do now is to win it. Then when South gets in again he can cash the ace and king of diamonds, and if they do not break, ruff the fourth diamond."

Hamburger De Luxe
For hamburger de luxe mash blue cheese and add enough well-seasoned French dressing to make it of spreading consistency. Broil hamburger patties and when they are done spread the cheese mixture over the top and place under the broiler again for a minute or two until the topping is bubbly.

Fifth M.J.M. Radio Show Slated Tonight

The fifth school radio program "Kingston Public Schools on the Air" will be broadcast over WKNY at 8 o'clock. A play, "The Early Settlement of Kingston," written by the pupils of the Grade 7 of School 7 will be presented. This play was written in conjunction with social studies. Miss Dorothy Elston and Mrs. Alice Cross are the teachers.

Pupils participating are Ann Segrave, Cynthia Haver, Sandra Gakita, Bernard Carpinell, Peter Cummings, Fred Burnett, Everett Campbell, Nicholas Shea, Ruth Streifer, Martin Kantrowitz, Martin Taylor, Sue Milliken. Joe Carpinell will take care of sound effects. John Robert will play a solo on the saxophone. Cynthia Haver, Marlene Larios, Jacqueline Burhans, Betty Ann Hyatt, Lillian Garrity and Carolyn Valentine will sing songs. Patricia Cullum from Myron J. Michael School will give news of the schools.

Solution Achieved
Miami, Fla., Nov. 30 (AP)—William M. Wollorth, Miami's new mayor, has come up with a neat solution for the mother-in-law problem. He picked his wife's mother to be his secretary at city hall.

Sahloff Becomes Manager at G.E.

Syracuse, Nov. 30—Willard H. Sahloff, formerly merchandise manager and a vice president for Montgomery Ward and Company and more recently president of the National Enameling and Stamping Company, has been appointed manager of the General Electric Company receiver division at Electronics Park here.

The announcement was made today by Dr. W. R. C. Baker, G. E. vice president and general manager of its electronics department. Mr. Sahloff will assume his new position the first of the year, Dr. Baker said.

The G. E. receiver division, which Mr. Sahloff will manage, engineers and builds a wide variety of radios, radio-phonograph combinations, and television receivers for the public, and parts for other manufacturers and distributors. It is one of three product divisions of the company's electronics department which has its headquarters at Electronics Park here.

Mr. Sahloff is a native of Kingston, N. Y., and a graduate of Rutgers University. He has had wide experience in the merchandising field. From 1930 to 1933 he was advertising manager of the Perth Amboy, N. J., Evening News. Mr. Sahloff then became a buyer, specializing in housewares and appliances, for L. Bamberger and Company, Newark, N. J. In 1940 he became division manager of the housewares department for Montgomery Ward in Chicago, leaving the company in 1943 to serve as a lieutenant in the supply corps, U. S. Navy. He returned to his former position with Montgomery Ward in 1945, then held positions as mail order merchandise manager, assistant general merchandise manager, finally becoming merchandise manager and a vice president for the company. Mr. Sahloff left Montgomery Ward to become president of the National Enameling and Stamping Company at Milwaukee, Wis., in May 1949, the position he held until his new appointment at General Electric.

Named Best of Breed

The Collie, Champion Popular Program, was named best of breed at the all-breed dog show held at Albany on November 20. Thomas Halpin of Chicago made the award and said this blue merle collie was "an easy winner." Ch. Popular Program was bred by Mrs. Mary E. Boreford, formerly Mary E. Browning of West Hurley. She now resides at Rhinebeck and operates the Popular Kennels.

Bride's Killer Sought
Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 30 (AP)—State and city police today sought the man who shot and killed a teen-aged Mrs. Lenore Angle last night. The young wife at 17 a bride of 11 months, was shot on a street near her apartment home. Police Detective Frank Breen said her husband, Langdon Angle, Jr., 23, an optical company worker, was missing.

Pretty Mrs. Angle, shot in her head and heart, was found crumpled on a street on the northeast side about 10:30 p. m. Neighbors said they heard a man and woman quarreling and then two shots.

The Angles, married last January, recently became reconciled after separating for two months.

Enterprise Is Curtailed Pruzgus, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 30 (AP)—Prague's Municipal Ruling Council announced today that no new labor would be allowed to private enterprise. It also decreed that workers now engaged in heavy industries and mining are to be virtually frozen in their jobs. The measure, published in two newspapers, Mlada Fronta had two apparent motives: 1. To supply needed manpower and increase production in essential industries. 2. To hasten the liquidation of remaining private enterprise, the remnants of capitalism.

Middletown Has Budget of $40,000 Above This Year

Taxpayers of Middletown can look forward to a substantial boost in their city taxes, according to the Middletown Times Herald, which reported adoption by the Common Council of a gross general budget of $46,564.38, more than $40,000 above that of the present year.

The amount to be raised by taxation after deduction of estimated revenues aggregating $44,592.59, was $60,071.86—only $632.59 under the constitutional limit—indicating a city rate for the coming year of $22.72, a jump of $1.25 over the present figure of $21.47.

For the second successive year, the council failed to approve the Board of Education budget and it was expected that the board would again vote unanimously to put its $410,205 net budget into effect over the heads of the aldermen by a two-thirds vote.

Action on salaries resulted as follows: Mayor—Raised from $3,000 to $5,000. Aldermen—At Large—Raised from $2,000 to $3,500.

Ward aldermen—Raised from $300 to $1,000. City Judge—Raised from $3,000 to $4,500. Recreation director—Reduced from $1,500 to $1,000. Sealers of weights and measures—Reduced from $600 to $300.

Rosoff Would Buy O.W., Court Told New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Federal Judge Edward A. Conger today postponed action until Jan. 4 on an application by trustees of the bankrupt New York, Ontario and Western Railway for permission to sell the line to the highest bidder.

Albert Oakes, counsel for the trustees, said the postponement could permit the study by the court of several requests by railroads who have shown interest in purchasing the properties.

One possible purchaser appeared before the judge today. He is a way builder, Samuel R. Rosoff, president of the Samuel R. Rosoff Corporation. He said he wanted to acquire the real estate and holdings of the road to see if continued operations were possible.

Conger said he would give every consideration to shippers, business people and communities whose lives and livelihoods depend on the O. & W. and the road's employees and to bondholders who have played a major role in keeping the road operating.

Hudson Man Gets 25 Years to Life On Murder Charge

Hudson, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Stevens Williams, 58, pleaded guilty in State Supreme Court today to a charge of second-degree murder in the slaying of a retired farmer, and was sentenced to serve from 25 years to life in Clinton prison.

Williams, who had been indicted on a first-degree murder charge, was accused of killing Alonzo Cook, 88, of Andoverdale, on June 17.

Police claimed Williams clubbed Cook with a "billy" during a dispute over money. Williams, on a farm which Williams had purchased from Cook, Cook had continued to live in the house after the transaction.

Sentence was imposed by Justice Harry E. Schrick of Kingston.

12 Persons Hospitalized After Bus Collision

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Twelve persons were hospitalized with injuries today when two buses bound for New Jersey collided near the Lincoln Tunnel. Fifteen others were reported hurt but they declined hospital treatment.

Police said a bus owned by the Garden State Transportation Company, Denville, N. J., going south on Dyer avenue, smashed into the middle of a bus owned by the Harmon and Regalia Co., Inc., North Bergen, N. J.

The Garden State bus was turning west in 35th street, it was reported.

Emergency physicians attended 12 passengers who were removed to St. Clare's Hospital for treatment.

The extent of the injuries was not known immediately.

Fifteen others, including the two drivers, refused medical attention.

Examination Is To Be Held Dec. 17 For Police List A civil service examination will be given Dec. 17 at 7:30 p. m., at Kingston High School to establish a new eligible list for patrolmen in the Kingston Police Department, the local civil service board announced yesterday.

No vacancies exist at present in the department, and the new list will be for future reference.

Information on requirements and particulars, and the applications may be obtained by applying to the Municipal Civil Service Commission in care of the city clerk, city hall. Applications must be filed by Dec. 6.

The announcement said that those having applied during the week of June 20 need not apply again.

The salary for patrolman was listed at $2,590 to $2,950.

Truck Snaps Pole In Accident on Port Ewen Grade

Shortly after 8 o'clock this morning Robert H. Ryckell, 32, of 42 Orchard street, Elizabeth, N. J., notified the sheriff's office that a truck which he was operating had struck a pole near Cemetery hill in Port Ewen. It snapped the pole off about 15 feet from the ground. Ryckell was operating a truck of the Garford Trucking Company of South River, N. J., northward.

Assistant Jailor Arthur Smith and Deputy Carl E. Cline investigated the accident. Ryckell told the sheriff he had been proceeding down the hill when he heard something on the truck break. It was icy and foggy at the time. The right of the trailer struck the pole, breaking it off and allowing the wires and a portion of the pole to hang in the air.

Ryckell told the officers he believed the left inner wheel of the truck broke. The vehicle was damaged about the right portion but Ryckell escaped injury.

Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation was notified of the damage to the pole and sent an emergency crew to the scene.

Attempts to Heat Rooms, Two Gas Jets Go Out Mrs. Rose K. Witter, 117 Fair street, elderly retired high school teacher, was overcome by gas fumes in the kitchen of her apartment this morning.

Police were notified at 8:30 a. m. and they sent the call to the fire department and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Co. for emergency aid. Several officers were also dispatched to the house.

Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sunford reported that two gas jets were burning and two others which had been turned on were not burning when firemen arrived. They found the woman overcome by the fumes on the kitchen floor.

The gas range had been lighted in an apparent attempt to heat the kitchen, the deputy chief said.

Miss Witter was revived at the house by the fire department in halator and was taken by ambulance to Kingston Hospital.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—A mid-morning flurry of demand for railroad issues helped to stiffen the entire stock market today.

For the first hour or so the market tried to get ahead but it was a half-hearted effort at best and a good many leaders refused to go along.

Interest in the rails spread to other groups and small gains were liberally distributed. Airline and utility shares tended to lag.

After a fairly active opening, trading slowed a bit, although turnover stayed at a rate comfortably above 1,000,000 shares for the full session.

Traders had a strong tendency to go slow pending fresh developments in the argument between soft coal miners and operators. The truce under which the industry has been operating expires at midnight tonight and a good many observers are wondering whether a new strike will be called or if the miners will stay at work.

Interest in the rails, some of which are heavily dependent on coal traffic for revenue, suggested hope that another strike would be forestalled.

Madsen Trial Is Postponed; to Take Data in New York

Frankfurt, Germany, Nov. 30 (AP)—The trial of Mrs. Yvette Madsen, charged with the pistol slaying of her air force husband, was indefinitely postponed today.

A three-judge United States court ordered the postponement to permit the taking of depositions in New York. The trial had been scheduled for Dec. 12.

The court rejected a prosecution move for a sanity examination of the beautiful young Brooklyn mother of two children.

Mrs. Madsen was accused last month of slaying her husband, Lt. Andrew E. Madsen of Oakland, Calif., after he laughed when another woman "insulted" her at a party.

Elmo Gower of Cumberland, Md., counsel for Mrs. Madsen, told the court today that he had received an urgent cable from her father in Brooklyn asking that the court permit this questioning under oath of several individuals in New York.

Gower said these include doctors and the custodian of records at Bellevue Hospital, an unnamed police official in Paterson, N. J., a Mrs. Tanner of the Brooklyn Children's Court, and three other individuals.

The court agreed and directed the appointment of a commissioner in New York to take the testimony.

Gower said the testimony from New York witnesses would "provide background on the case." He did not elaborate.

Court officials said at least one month will be needed to take the testimony in New York. They said the case probably will come to trial early next year.

District Attorney Fred Johnson of Raleigh, N. C., asked the court to commit Mrs. Madsen for a mental examination.

Counsel for the defense has suggested that insanity might be introduced as a defense. Johnson said, "We feel that before proceeding with the case the mental capacity of the accused should be determined."

Gower opposed Johnson's motion. The court rejected the motion on the grounds that Johnson did not allege insanity but said merely that insanity might be used as a defense.

The 22-year-old mother cried silently throughout the hearing. She was accompanied by an air force policeman and a matron. Wearing a dark red dress, trim black shoes and a green sport coat, Mrs. Madsen was unable to walk from the court building when the hearing ended. The policeman and matron assisted her to a waiting car.

She is being confined in the air force hospital at Wiesbaden.

Laborites Lose In New Zealand

Auckland, N. Z., Nov. 30 (AP)—A Labor government which brought advanced social legislation to New Zealand in the past 14 years was turned out of office today.

The government of Prime Minister Peter Fraser went down to defeat at the hands of the opposition National party which said the people were tired of government controls and would eliminate them where possible.

The new prime minister will be Sidney George Holland, 56-year-old former businessman who has been opposition leader in the Wellington Parliament since the Labor government took office in 1935.

Final standing of the parties in a Parliament of 80 members showed the Nationalists will have 46 seats to Labor's 34.

Labor had a majority of four in the previous Parliament.

10 Families Driven Out
New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Ten families fled to the street after a policeman discovered a fire early today in a woodworking shop on the first floor of a five-story tenement at 1173 Second avenue. Patrolman John Keane, 31, of 240-01 Mayday Road, Rosedale, Queens, passing the building at 12:30 a. m., saw smoke issuing from the store. He ran into the building to arouse the tenants after turning in an alarm. Fire apparatus quickly extinguished the blaze after the tenants had fled to the street. Damage was listed as slight. Patrolman Keane was treated for smoke poisoning at the scene.

Do You Remember

by
SOPHIE MILLER

I have been loaned about a dozen "Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal" newspapers of the 1890's. As I intend to return them in a week or ten days I am hurriedly working with a magnifying glass, as the type is small and the print is old and worn, and paragraphs very long.

Here is one from Thursday, March 1, 1888, (famous 1888 blizzard was on Friday, February 13): "Professor Thomas Raftery, formerly of Kingston and Ulster Academies, is back in New York from the Pacific Coast, with $27,000 in cash, the proceeds of a sale of a portion of his real estate in San Diego, California. Several years ago, when San Diego was a hamlet, Mr. Raftery bought a considerable piece of land on the outskirts 'for a song' and has held it for a rise. He was within hailing distance when the recent real estate boom struck the town, and accepted an offer for some of his lots. He still owns a number of lots."

When General George H. Sharpe of Kingston introduced General W. T. Sherman, on Wednesday evening, February 22, at the Academy of Music for the gathering of the 120th Regiment, General Sherman said in part: "My friends, who live in the shadow of the Catskill Mts. with old Rip Van Winkle, I suppose still alive somewhere, I want you to understand that I am about as old as Rip Van Winkle when he was discovered. (Sherman was born 1820, died 1891.) I want to play the modest part, and not be heard. I have but little to say to you today. Not one word of note, no preparation. I have never been in Kingston before, save in a train whirling by, though I may have stopped at your landing in years gone by, for it was up the Hudson river 50 years ago, and almost annually ever since. I was never more impressed with the beauty of the scene from New York city to Kingston than today, coming in mid-winter, the hills covered with snow, and yet the rocks bearing evidence of a mighty upheaval which once tore and rent a pathway for the Hudson river to the sea."

"As I look over this great sea of faces I wonder why you have come—I suppose you expect your old 'Uncle Billy,' as they used to call me, to say something smart or tart, or something new. There is very little new to be said about our Civil War. Each and every regiment has its history, and let anyone of these men tell the tale just as he saw it, in the broad daylight, and it will please you far more than for me to go over the hackneyed things of the past."

"But I have seen much in my day, not only in the Civil War, my friends, but long before and long since. I have seen the country develop, and I do believe I took far more interest in the growth of Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, California, Oregon, and Washington Territory, than I ever did in marching through Georgia, or marching anywhere else."

On his "Philosophy of the Civil War," he says in part: "You who came here to look upon us who were actors in the drama of war, see that we are not one whit better than you are. We are made of the same flesh, and blood, and every boy who looks upon any of these old soldiers may rest assured he can be, if he chooses, and keeps his heart pure and simple, as great a man as Grant, or Sheridan or Sherman, or any of them."

"We were simple men trying to do the best we knew how, we were scared at times, but we had sense enough to go ahead, and if you go ahead, and keep going ahead, you will come out somewhere. The road may be long and tortuous, but with intelligence, if the object is noble, you will attain a noble end."

After the old veterans had a chance to shake hands with Gen. Sherman, the program ended with everyone singing "Marching Through Georgia." Sooley W. Powley sang the solo, and Henry M. Crane played the organ accompaniment. Anyone remember hearing of General Sherman's visit to Kingston? Perhaps some of my old time readers may have seen Gen. Sherman in person. Write me about it.

Campaign Is Started

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Automobile Club of New York has started a campaign seeking to defeat the proposed $5 and $10 auto use tax in Yonkers, N. Y. William J. Gottlieb, president of the club, said in a letter to Yonkers members yesterday that the measure would discriminate against motorists. "Without any pretense," he said, "car owners are being singled out to pay more than their share of general expenses which should rightfully be the concern of all citizens. Even if it is necessary to increase the city's revenues by imposing new taxes, why penalize the motorists?"

Junior Daughters Initiate; Install New Court Officers

Junior Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria, 164 recently held initiation ceremonies for new members and installation of newly elected court officers. The rituals were conducted at the Knights of Columbus Home and were conducted by Junior Court Santa Maria 970 of Marlborough.

Members initiated included the Misses Helen Bellswinger, Claudia Bouchard, Mary Bouchard, Marilyn Chick, Marie Dempsey, Rose Mary Doyle, Dolores Guido, Lucy Kozicki, Jean Mauro, Rose Nardi, Angela Perry, Kathleen Petramale, Janet Schully, Ellen Steltz, Nancy Tomlinson, Joan Von Ahnen and Joan Warren.

Following the initiation ceremonies by the degree team of junior members from Marlborough, Mrs. William McGowan, president of the upper section of the Archdiocese of Marlborough, was introduced by Mrs. Richard Donnelly, local junior chairman. Mrs. McGowan installed the following new officers: Miss Marie Dempsey, junior court president; Miss Estelle Roche, vice president; Miss Lorraine Miller, reporter; and Miss Barbara Bruck, secretary.

Congratulations and best wishes were extended to the court and its new members and officers by the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter's Church, this city; the Rev. James Oudigan, pastor of St. Ann's Parish, Sewall; Mrs. Vincent A. Gorman, grand regent of the senior court; Mrs. Mae Cole, area chairman of the Albany Diocese; and Mrs. McGowan. They urged the young women to give their court whole-hearted support.

New Year's Eve Party Plans Made At St. Peter's Club

According to preliminary reports made at the meeting of St. Peter's Parish Club last week, the second annual New Year's Eve party sponsored by the club promises to be the most successful event of the parish social season. Robert McAndrew, school custodian, is making preparations to enlarge the dance floor. The hall will be gayly festooned with balloons and streamers and attractively decorated tables will be arranged to accommodate individual parties. Speed Scherer and his orchestra will play.

The entertainment committee announced that the formula for games and contests has been improved and surprises planned for the stroke of midnight will be both unusual and hilarious.

Admission to the dance will be by reservation only. Ticket cost will include dancing, entertainment and refreshments. A special feature at no additional charge will be hot turkey sandwiches, tea and coffee. Tickets may be obtained from Frank Mehra, Mrs. C. J. Heitzman, Leonard Ward, Louis Heitzman, Thomas Bynes, James Martin, Mrs. Joseph Ahl, Mrs. William Heitzman or at the rectory.

Footlighters to Produce Christmas Eve Radio Play

The Footlighters Radio Study Group will present an original Christmas play on Christmas eve at 8:30 o'clock over the local radio station, WKNY. All members are urged to attend the reading and casting of this script Sunday at 8 p. m. in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

HOW TO HOLD STEMMED GLASSES

It is amazing how many people have suddenly begun asking: "Will you describe how to hold stemmed glasses of various sizes?"

Such directions would be much easier to give in pictures. However, if you try holding glasses of different sizes yourself, you will find that you most naturally do this: You hold a large-bowled stemmed glass with thumb and first two fingers around the stem at the base of the bowl and you let the fourth and fifth fingers fall naturally against the stem, either behind or in front. You practically do the same even with the smaller glasses. The only rule of good taste is not to let your two last fingers stick out affectingly into the air, either straight or curled.

Stepfather's Name Not Used.
Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be better, for my own father, if my mother and stepfather sent the invitations to my wedding and reception? My own father is paying the bill and being present, but as I live with mother and it is her church he is letting her send the invitations, I feel the least we can do is omit my stepfather's name as long as Dad's name can't appear on them. Mother disagrees.

Answer: I agree with you, at least for the church invitations. If the reception is taking place in your stepfather's house, his name would quite properly appear with your mother's on those invitations, unless the card envelopes reading merely "Reception" immediately following etc. are used, in which case no names are used. If your father is giving the reception in a hotel or club, he might send invitations to this himself, but these should be mailed in separate envelopes.

Young Hostess.
Dear Mrs. Post: I'd like to give a small dinner in a restaurant for the members of a wedding party and a few others. I'm only 19 and wonder if it would be proper for me alone to give the dinner in a public place. Should my parents come along?

Answer: It would be quite all right if it is a restaurant well known to your family and where you often go. But I think it would be unusual for a young girl of your age to be hostess alone in the evening in a restaurant where she is a stranger. You can however perfectly well give a luncheon.

Who pays the wedding expenses? The expenses paid by the bride's family and the bridegroom are listed in Mrs. Post's leaflet, "Wedding Expenses." To ob-

Moroney-O'Banks Wedding Takes Place Before Nuptial Mass

Port Ewen, Nov. 30.—The wedding of Miss Sally E. O'Banks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Banks to Gerald Moroney, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Moroney, of the Bronx, took place Saturday at 10 a. m. in the Church of the Presentation. The Rev. A. Otterlein performed the double ring ceremony followed by a Nuptial Mass.

The church was decorated with white mums. Throughout the Mass hymns were sung by Edward Cherney, accompanied by Miss Anne Goldrick, organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white satin was designed with beaded neckline, fitted bodice, full skirt terminating in a long train. Her headpiece of seed pearls held in place the imported fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums and pompons.

Mrs. Raymond Davis of Kingston, sister of the bride, as matron of honor wore a pink satin gown with blue satin headpiece and carried a cascade bouquet of blue mums and pompons. The bridesmaids were Miss Jacqueline O'Banks, sister of the bride, who wore a rose taffeta gown, blue cloche hat, and carried blue mums and pompons; and Miss Margaret Whelan of Kingston, who wore a blue taffeta gown with rose cloche and carried rose mums and pompons.

Best man was Edwin Zimmer of Fort Dix, N. J. Ushers were Frank Roberts of Fort Dix and Raymond Davis, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception for 150 people was held at St. Leo's Hall. Out-of-town guests were present from Bronx, Brooklyn, Fort Dix, New Haven, Conn., Jersey City and West Camp. Music was furnished by Rodney DuBois and orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Moroney departed for a wedding trip to New England. She wore a grey gabardine ensemble with navy blue accessories. Upon their return, they will live at Fort Dix, N. J.

The bride attended Kingston High School and was employed by Sport Life Manufacturing Co., Inc. Her husband was graduated from Jerome's High School, Bronx, and served five years in the army. He re-enlisted and is stationed at Fort Dix.

Alfred LaFalce, Miss Cappillino Wed in Highland

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Evelyn Cappillino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cappillino, to Alfred LaFalce, son of Jack LaFalce, Highland, and the late Mrs. LaFalce. The double ring ceremony was performed November 20 in St. Augustine's Church, Highland, by the Rev. John T. Halpin.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore an ivory Slimmer satin gown fashioned with fitted bodice, long sleeves, small collar trimmed with seed pearls and a full skirt ending in a train. She wore a veil of illusion and carried a prayer book with a white orchid marker.

Mrs. Henry Stellar, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a gold colored tulle taffeta gown with matching headpiece and mits of brown velvet.

Henry Stellar, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man. A reception for 400 guests was held at the Richmond Hotel, Highland, after the ceremony. Later they departed for a wedding trip south and upon their return will live on Milton avenue, Highland.

The bride was graduated from Highland High School and New York State Institute of Agriculture and Home Economics, Cobleskill. She is employed in the office of Dr. P. E. Lord.

Mr. LaFalce, who is employed at International Business Machines, served with the army during the war and later in occupied Japan.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

New York (AP)—Squire Rockefeller has our town in a tizzy.

It's about that Christmas tree he put up between his ice pond and the R.C.A. Building.

The squire is a right neighborly fellow. Every year about this time his hired hands whack down a tall tree somewhere, and haul it into town and put it up—for the community to look at free.

It's got so that the Christmas season isn't official in these parts until the Rockefeller tree is lit. And the natives gather around and watch the ceremony and say things like:

"It's downright purty—and that's for certain."

"I warn, ma, it's taller'n our tenement."

"Last year 'twas n't near so handsome. Young John D. has gone and done it again."

Well, all last week our town was as excited as Dan'l Boone at a turkey shoot. Word had got around, somehow, that this year the squire had really outdone himself.

A goodly throng of citizens had gathered in advance to welcome the tree.

"Hear, tell it's a ten-ton, 75-foot Norway spruce—and it's taking two trucks to haul it in," opined one man.

"Law, you don't say," said another. "I heard 't would have seven miles of wiring, 500 of them new-fangled plastic globes and better'n 7,500 lights."

"I figger 't'll run him at least $10,000—and 'tain't chickenfeed," allowed a third.

The natives clucked and shook their heads in awe.

Along about then Mayor O'Dwyer's boys in blue shined the tree around the corner. It seemed like everyone was there for the big hoedown 'cepting Grover Whalen, who was busy in his perfume shop—a customer had just walked in.

Well, sir, our folks took one look at Squire Rockefeller's 1949 Christmas tree—and all hullabaloo broke loose. The tree wasn't green at all. 'Twas white—yep, white all over.

"The dang thing musta fainted!" said a visitor from Brooklyn.

"No, we done it deliberate," said a hired hand. "Importantly, the squire didn't want to catch the town on fire by no accident. So we sprayed the tree with 200 gallons of white camouflage paint—it's fire-retardin'. Ain't she a beauty?"

Well, yes! And, well, not about that 'air tree for days. The disputes have been so hot that Sherm Billingley has banned it as a table topic at his Stock Club beanyery. Too many customers gettin' mad and throwing his fine 85-cent blueplate specials in each other's faces.

Some folks come right out flat and say:

"We got to grow up with the times. Nobody in Boston would think 've settin' up a white Christmas tree. The squire has kep' us ahead agin'."

But other folks are just as sot 'tother way.

"He oughta tear it down and start all over," they opine. "It ain't a Christmas tree to begin with. It's all painted."

And we were all purty riled when that smart-aleck from Weehawken, N. J., snickered out loud.

"Just like Manhattan. Ever since you fellows warped this rockpile away from the Indians you have to put platinum on everything—for fear nobody'll think it's wuthwhile."

Well, like it or not, durned if we ain't stuck with that tree until January 1st, the first. For the squire, when he bows his back, can be right stubborn.

Brown Returns Home

Charles H. Brown, 17, of Partition street, Saugerties, returned to his home from the Benedictine Hospital Tuesday night, hospital authorities reported. Brown was injured last Wednesday night when the automobile he was driving skidded off the highway and hit a telephone pole on Route 28 at West Hurley, the sheriff's office reported.

Drivers Are Warned December Is Perilous

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—The State Motor Vehicle Bureau warns that December is the most dangerous month on the highways of New York state.

Commissioner Clifford J. Fletcher yesterday urged drivers to observe "common sense rules of driving."

He said no other month last year came close to the December total of 9,125 accidents involving death or personal injury. The next highest was September with 7,888.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Nov. 29—Mrs. Beale Gerow spent Thanksgiving with her mother and sister in Modena and on Sunday called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freston Paltz.

Robert DuBois and Clifford Aldorf were among those to get a deer this season.

The senior class of New Paltz High School is well on its way toward producing Ruth Gordon's play "Years Ago," December 10 in the school auditorium at 8:30 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clearwater entertained for the Thanksgiving period their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Green and grandchildren, John Green, Jr., and Esther Amelia Green of Newburgh, also Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Place and sons, Earl and Allen. The occasion marked the 24th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Place. Mr. Clearwater who has been ill at his home is greatly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Humphries and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Faunce of North Wales, Pa., and Mrs. Faunce's cousin, Otto Schmid who has been spending a few weeks with them motored to New Paltz on Thanksgiving and spent the week-end at Mr. Schmid's home. He returned with them on Sunday for another visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Harvey will spend the winter at Orange City, Fla.

A new unit of the Ulster County Home Bureau was organized recently at the home of Mr. G. Lamb in Clintondale. Officers are Mrs. G. Lamb, chairman; Mrs. E. Zolla, secretary and Miss M. DiBenedetto, treasurer.

The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donagan, S.T.D., Bishop Coadjutor of the diocese will visit St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Clinton College, spent the holiday vacation with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Lent.

Mrs. Harriett Dayton is recovering from illness at her home on North Oakwood Terrace.

Brickyard Fire Destroys College Experiment Lab

An early morning fire completely leveled the experimental laboratory on the property of the East Kingston Brick Corporation used by Alfred University in the study of ceramics.

Chief James Costello of the East Kingston Volunteer Fire Department was of the opinion the $5,000 blaze resulted from an oil-burning kiln.

Reporting that the fire started approximately 1 o'clock, Chief Costello said, "There was no way we could save the two-story wooden structure, the flames gained such headway."

According to the chief his 75 men pumped water from the Hudson river through 300 feet of hose for two hours, battling the fire and protecting nearby buildings, one of them the Brigham store.

Two other hose companies from Glens and Ulster landing turned out to help fight the flames, but the fire was beyond control when they arrived.

The alarm was turned in by James Gallo, Chief Costello said. Costello said the laboratory, an old building on the brickyard, burned rapidly. The loss he said was mostly in machinery used in testing and experimental work.

Prisoners Leave

Sheriff George Smith and County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburg left today to transport two prisoners to penitentiaries. Robert Landon, 19, was taken to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora and Jack Mote, 20, was taken to Great Meadows Prison. Both had entered pleas of guilty to escape from Walkkill Prison.

Kostov and 10 Indicted

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 30 (AP)—Former Communist Vice Premier Traicho Kostov and 10 others were indicted today by Bulgaria's Communist-dominated government on charges of treason, spying and economic sabotage. They were accused of having worked with Yugoslav agents and American and British Intelligence Services.

Po'keepsie Mayor

Accuses His Police

Poughkeepsie, Nov. 30—Because summonses for overtime parking slapped during October, city patrolmen have been accused of "laying down" on the job to gain favor for their pay referendum that was voted in at the November election.

Mayor Graham has flatly charged that the police used the scheme to get their $525 per man pay hike.

Chief Leadbetter reported 78 parking meter violations for October this year as against 198 the same month last year.

Spokesmen for the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association said they had no comment to make.

Williamson Sets

train there was no reason to believe the train would be permanently discontinued.

Stang asked that in the event the Public Service Commission directs continuance of Train No. 26 between Albany and Kingston, that the order also direct its continuance from Kingston to Weehawken.

Commissioner Williamson replied the railroad if it operated from Albany to Kingston, probably would run the train on to Weehawken since the Albany-Kingston run alone was of little service. He said any amendment of the petition should not be made until the next hearing, that the coal emergency probably would be over at that time and then it is the train is not reinstated, it would be for "some other reason."

During the afternoon session Trainmaster Main was cross-examined by Stang. Among the questions asked was whether the New York Central had added any new vice-presidents to its payroll since the first of this year. Main said he would not know, except from reading "The Headlight," the company publication. Stang said that paper stated two had been added but it appeared they were on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad, one of the Central system lines.

Stevens for the railroad objected on the grounds the addition of vice-presidents would not alter the cost figures in the present case since they were not figured in as a part of the operating cost. He also asked whether Main knew if the county of Ulster had added any new county attorneys since the first of the year, that being equally important to the taxpayers as was the addition of vice-presidents to the railroad costs.

Main said he had heard nothing about restoring train No. 26 to service. It had been eliminated due to coal shortages.

Truck Carries Mail

Next, William M. Smith of Hawthorne, superintendent of mail and express traffic, was called. He went into the mail and express income and explained how the railroad was compensated for carrying mail and express. Since the elimination of service between Albany and Kingston last September, he said, the Post Office Department had instituted a star route between Albany and Kingston to operate on approximately the same time as the train formerly ran. A 4½-ton truck operates between Albany and Kingston carrying mail and parcels. It leaves Albany at 8:45 a. m. and arrives at Kingston station at 5:45 a. m. where it deposits mail for transportation south over the West Shore. North it leaves Kingston at 7:15 p. m. and arrived in Albany at 10 p. m. This schedule is daily except Sunday. Another short line Star route operates from Albany to Catskill daily except Sunday.

Smith was questioned as to whether the Star route could carry all of the mail formerly transported by train, and he replied he did not know, that was operated by the post office department under contract with the truckman.

There was considerable involved testimony as to how the railroad was paid for carrying mail and express. Smith said discontinuance of trains might mean some of the mail and express business would be diverted to other railroads and lost to the Central.

Asked if he knew that train No. 8 ran as much as one to two hours late since No. 26 was taken off, Smith said he had no such reports. It was contended that additional business thrown to No. 8 now was responsible for the delays, principally increases in express. Smith said this was a natural result of the increase in business at the Christmas season and parcel post was increasing due to the increase in express rates. Mail had increased in volume but express was showing a decline.

During the examination of Smith by Attorney Stevens, Smith said wages were the principal component of the cost of operating any train. Now No. 8 is doing the work of two trains, an economy which Stevens said the railroad had effected because it was losing money on West Shore traffic.

Several additional exhibits were offered by the railroad prior to adjournment so the opposition might have an opportunity to study them before the next hearing. Included was a Greyhound bus timetable between New York and Albany and other points.

Stang pointed out that a Greyhound bus could not be boarded at Kingston for Albany or at Albany for Kingston, there being no intra-state service, this being allocated to Mountain View Coach Line.

Income exhibits were offered showing mail and express income on trains Nos. 16, 25 and 26. These will be gone into at the adjourned hearing.

prison but is free in bail pending appeal.

Palmer contended in his new move to halt a second trial for her that wire-tapping violates the fourth and fifth amendments of the United States Constitution and has been held illegal by the Supreme Court.

The lawyer said F.B.I. head J. Edgar Hoover himself "recognizes the illegality of wire-tapping and has termed it 'an archaic and an inefficient practice.'"

F.B.I. agents have testified in their preliminary hearings that telephone in Miss Coplon's Washington home and another phone in the Brooklyn home of her parents were tapped.

Miss Coplon and Gubitchew were arrested in New York last March 4 after she had come here from Washington in one of a series of appointments with the Russian engineer.

She contended that the meetings took place because she loved Gubitchew until she learned he was married. The government says she met him to pass along secret information from the Justice Department.

Atom Weapon ...

devastation can be multiplied by six. The blast zone of an explosion drops off sharply with distance.

Therefore, if a Nagasaki-type bomb crushed all buildings at points up to 8,000 feet from the explosion, it would not mean that a new bomb would have the same effect on all buildings up to 48,000 feet.

What it does mean is that the power to crush by shock and by the outward and then inward sweep of air from the semi-vacuum created by explosion would be intensified by a factor of six. There would, of course, be some increase in the area of the blast zone.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—A blinding fog rolled in over northern New Jersey this morning, tying up traffic at the height of the morning rush hour. The fog clinging over the area from 7:30 to 8 a. m. and the Newark Airport Weather Station said visibility and ceiling conditions were zero-zero. The weatherman said the fog was caused by the sudden drop in temperature clashing with ground surface heat. The mercury hit a low of 29 degrees at 7 a. m., but climbed back above freezing by 9 a. m.

the hangar and burst into flames. After that I had no clear recollection as to what happened except that the first officer and flight engineer were gone from the cockpit and I dived through the forward baggage hatch, crawling away."

The copilot was Robert E. Lewis, who staggered, bleeding, to a nearby home saying "I think I am dying and I want to make a statement." To an excited grocery store employee, Frances Hudson, he dictated a statement saying in part:

Of the injured, none was in serious condition, and many had been released from hospitals.

Murrell denied any attempt to smuggle it to the middle east or "in any illicit direction."

On Jan. 6 Federal agents seized five two-seater advance training planes which Murrell said he owned. The planes were picked up at Port Newark just before they were to be loaded onto an Egyptian ship.

The indictment also charges the seven men did not obtain State Department permission to remove the planes from this country. A presidential order prohibited the export of war materials without a license from the secretary of state.

Named in the indictment besides Murrell are George Wilson of London, Sam Hanna, alias Salim Hanna, a native of Egypt; Leonard de Pippa of Long Island City, N. Y., who served as a port captain under Murrell in the Army;

Sam Stein and Artie Jackson of Detroit; and Leon La Bella of New Rochelle, N. Y.

Murrell, La Bella and Pippa also are named in separate indictments charging they gave false information to Federal agents.

Tyne said being warrants probably will be used soon for the arrest of the defendants. He added that Hanna and Wilson are believed to be out of the country.

Elinor Troy Dies

Los Angeles, Nov. 30 (AP)—Elinor Troy, 33, former showgirl who won fame as the only fiancée of Tenny Manville to "stand up" the asbestos fortune heir, died last night of tuberculosis. She had been ill nearly five years. In October, 1939, after a three-day romance, Manville chartered a plane and flew his six-foot raven-haired fiancée from Hollywood to New York. After a spat, she walked out on him. Miss Troy was to have been his fifth wife. She appeared in Ziegfeld, Billy Rose and Earl Carroll shows in New York.

Girl Stabs Father

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Alicia Garcia, of 1551 Southern Boulevard, the Bronx, stabbed her father, Eugene, a 40-year-old porter, in the abdomen as he beat her and her mother in the kitchen of their apartment last night, police reported. Alicia, a student at St. Thomas Aquinas Parochial School, was booked as a juvenile delinquent and paroled in the custody of her mother, Edith. The father was listed in fair condition in Lincoln Hospital.

Cow Thief Blames Ulcers

Washington (AP)—Harry C. Barton, of Sandy Spring, noticed the cow he just bought seemed homesick. He noticed also that its horns drooped. And he read that a cow with droopy horns had been stolen. Checking up, sure enough he found that he had bought a stolen cow. He got his money back. The rustler was traced, confessed, and blamed it all on the fact that he had ulcers, seven children and a house that burned down. "But if it wasn't for drinking, I wouldn't have taken a single cow," he said.

Today's Business Mirror

By RADER WINGET
(For SAM DAWSON)

New York, Nov. 29 (AP)—If you don't know which way business is going to go in 1950, you're not the only one who is confused.

The season is here for the traditional gazing into the economic crystal ball for a clue to the nation's probable business health in 1950.

Plenty of predictions already have been made. Some of them are forecasts that business will go up—or down—or continue on an even keel.

In every case the forecaster voiced his judgment of what's ahead. He might turn out to be wrong, but his opinion is based on prevailing conditions. The 20th anniversary of the big stock market crash of 1929 put the brakes on a lot of predictions this year. Current histories of the big bust recited forecasts made at that time. Many a man, with a big name said it was only a little slurry, or suggested that now was the time to buy sound stocks. The forecasters of 1929 had a lot in common—most of them were wrong.

Can't Agree
That doesn't mean today's forecasters for 1950 are wrong. But some of them have to be in error because they contradict each other on major points. Or at least, they seem so. Many times a reader will remember only an outstanding phrase without bothering to read the entire statement with its necessary qualifications.

The average man usually grasps one central theme—business is going to be good or bad next year.

A majority of 108 economists polled by the F. W. Dodge Corp. said they expected a "downward trend in physical volume of production during the first part of 1950 and a moderate rise in the latter half of 1950." The prediction was not unanimous. It was a majority expression.

Within a few days, Cloud Wampler, president of Carder Co., made a forecast: "My own guess leans to the belief that we will see a temporary upward spurt in the first half of 1950, with some settling back in the latter half." Wampler's company has had an extremely high batting average in projecting the economic curve since the war.

And the National Association of Purchasing Agents this week said: "At the present time there is no indication that general business will resume the upward swing recorded in August and September. It will probably recover in the next two months the ground lost in October and November."

Strikes Make It Hard
Most predictions hedge on unforeseen events such as strikes. They really throw forecasting out of gear. The Federal Reserve Board a month ago yesterday estimated October industrial production would fall 11.5 per cent. By Nov. 9 it revised the estimate to a drop of 6 per cent. But yesterday the board in a final revised figure said industrial production had dropped only 4.6 per cent in October.

That index of industrial production is a basic thermometer measuring the nation's economic health. Continued high production is considered good. A persistent sharp slump means depression.

But just as it is difficult to predict swings in production as a result of strikes, it is doubly difficult to judge very far in advance the impact of agreements made in settling a strike.

Sharon Steel Corp. yesterday raised its prices 7 1/2 per cent on narrow strip steel and 9 1/2 per cent on semi-finished steel. The boost was due, said the company, to higher production costs and wasn't a result of the pension-insurance agreement with the C.I.O. Steel Workers Union. That new cost will not be felt until next March.

Other steel companies are pondering price increases both from currently increased costs and from higher payments due to workers. Some of them are expected to make announcements shortly, perhaps today.

Hinges on Costs
That injects a new element into forecasting. If these higher costs are passed on down the line, they will inevitably be paid at the retail level. How does that affect forecasting? Department store sales, the bellwether of retailing, are running slightly below a year ago. The volume of sales in November and December account for 25 per cent of all department store sales. So it's important to business. In applying the forecasting measuring stick, prices stand out. If we had last year's higher prices now, then dollar volume would be running even with or ahead of a year ago. But we don't and dollar volume is off.

So trying to figure next year's retail dollar volume is almost impossible today while attempting to juggle a possible steel price hike into the picture.

One thing that nearly all forecasters are agreed upon is voiced by A. W. Zelenak, president of the International Statistical Bureau. He says: "Let us simply say at the moment we can see no reason to fear an early major depression."

Indian Totem Poles
The first Indian totem poles are believed to have been built less than 200 years ago in British Columbia or the Queen Charlotte Islands to the west of the Canadian province.

"Her coat was as worn as my promises!"

A typical story of everyday Americans — the most independent people on earth

"It seemed every time I helped Sally on with her shabby old coat I'd say, 'This year for sure, I'll buy you a new one.' But I never did. And all last winter I couldn't look Sally in the eye.

"I didn't say a word about opening a Savings Bank account—or mention that new coat again till the box was in her hands. It sure was a happy day for both Sally and me!"

In New York State more people put their savings in Savings Banks than anywhere else. They like dealing with a friendly, familiar, neighborhood Savings Bank. And above all, they know their money is safe.

So guard your financial independence as 7 million New Yorkers do. Open a Savings Bank account this week. And keep your account growing—add to it every payday. Remember, saving makes the difference between wishing and having.

Why your Savings Bank is your money's best friend

• AVAILABILITY. No delay...no red tape. Your money is ready on a minute's notice.

• SAFETY. Not one of the 130 Savings Banks has ever misused paying regular interest—dividends to its depositors.

• CONVENIENCE. 218 Savings Bank offices with banking hours to suit the community.

• EXTRA SERVICES. A wide variety of services to meet the needs of Thriftsavers and home owners.

Harry's Angels Beat Wiltwycks 59-55 in Y Basketball Upset Sicklers At Home

With a chance to move over the 700 mark in the Orange-Sullivan League standings, Sickler's Delivery sends its powerhouse against the refurbished Cornwall Highlanders tonight at the municipal auditorium.

Game time is 9 o'clock with a preliminary at 8 p. m.

No information is available on the Cornwall roster except that it has been heavily re-inforced by recruits from Stewart Field and West Point, following two successive setbacks in league play.

The Sickler roster, minus high scoring Buddy Smith, still packs tremendous scoring power with George Bloom, Ken Lowe, Clark Mains, Rod Sagerdorf, Andy Murphy, Dick Priest and a flock of others.

Siena Star

Heading Siena College's entry into the basketball big time Saturday night at Madison Square Garden against Manhattan University, is Charlie "Chuck" Northrup, 6 foot, 5 inch center from Amsterdam, N. Y. The Loudonville, N. Y. quintet under Coach Danny Cunha was the second best defensive major college team in the country last season. Oklahoma A. & M. was first.

Second Period Blast Upends Favorites

With Neil Dunham in the role of Gabriel, Harry's Angels, a fourth place club in the Y Fall League, last night staged the outstanding upset of the early Y League schedule by humbling the Wiltwyck Motor powerhouse, 59-55.

In the companion piece, Sickler's Delivery romped over Fullers, 75-49.

Always a team of sharpshooters who can cut the bucket and make fast one-handed shots, the Angels reached their seasonal peak last night.

They started moving in the second period when Eric Goerke and Andy Petruski sparked a 20-point session to give them a 31-25 half-time edge. Wiltwycks led 14-11 in the first period. The clubs battled on virtually even terms after the recess but the Motor men were unable to undo the damage of the second period, despite a three-point effort by "Pappy" Sickler.

Wiltwycks moved to within 46-49 of the Angels in the final period before the Angels regained command.

Sicklers in Rump
Dick Priest rolled up 23 points as Sicklers scored easily over Fullers. The Deliverymen led 33-22 at the half and 49-30 at the three-quarter mark. Tony Albany drilled 14 points, while P. Smith and Dan McGraw had a dozen each. Jeff Brennan's 16 and a dozen by Joe Jordan paced Fullers.

Wiltwycks' 28-point blast came in the second period, the result of 12 fields and four fouls. Dunham reeled off nine dunks and three conversions for the Angels. Goerke tossed in 17 points and Petruski 14. Kearney made only seven for the winners but six came in the crucial second quarter.

Co-Captains Listed For Cornell Eleven

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Cornell's Ivy League champion football team, which uses the two-platoon system, will have captains for both the offensive and defensive units next year.

Elected 1950 co-captains at a squad dinner last night were John Plonk, 19, offensive center from Providence, R. I., and Charles (Chuck) Taylor, 21, defensive fullback from Slingerlands, N. Y.

Galento Kayoes Kelly in 15 Flat; With Loud Body Slams, of Course

● Bagatelles:
Now is the time for all sports writers and coaches to go out on a limb and select the 1949 All-DUSO football squad. . . . It is all done in an unofficial sort of way with Eddie Lown of the Middletown Times Herald serving as master of ceremonies. . . . Billets will be contributed by the four newspapers in the DUSO cities and three of the four head coaches in the conference. Coach Bill Burke of Kingston High, who suffers extreme allergy in the matter of all-star selections, will, as usual, refrain from casting a ballot. . . . Our first team, selected in 60 seconds flat, shows five players from Newburgh and Kingston and one from Middletown. The backfield is evenly divided between K.H.S. and N.E.A.

● Flotsam and Jetsam:
The Stamford Golf Club will build a new clubhouse on or near the site of the one destroyed by fire in 1939. To those of us who have negotiated that famous goat hill climb on No. 3 hole that comes as great news. . . . Alex Geralt has closed shop for the 1949 season and can daydream about the beautiful No. 2 course as a daydream. . . . The Stamford Golf Club will honor retiring president Robert Herzog at the annual President's Dinner on Saturday, Dec. 10, at the Governor Clinton. Ralph K. Ballard, who has served with distinguished success as Twelfth Street treasurer, succeeds Herzog as president. Club champions in three divisions will be honored that night. Tournament chairman, Bart Haver, is expected to attend, if he doesn't "have to go to New York."

● Plenty of Skiing in Ulster:
The 64-page booklet "Ski New York State" published by the State Department of Commerce, reveals that the Catskill area is a veritable skier's paradise. . . . Of the 64 ski centers in the state, this area boasts of 29, according to State Commerce Commissioner Harold Keller. The 64 centers represent a new all-time record in the state, a boost of 16 over last year. . . . Southern New York, which includes the Catskill area, has skiing centers at the new Bellefonte layout, Bethpage State Park, Grossinger Lake, Highmount, operated by the Davenport brothers; Kiamashu Lake, Livingston Manor, Monticello, Beacon, Warwick, Austerville, Norwich, Oyster Bay, Palisades Interstate Park, Rhinecliff, Pine Hill, Sharon Springs, East Berne, Cobleskill, East Jewett, Doverville, Cairo, Armonk and Walton. . . . If that isn't enough, there is always the "long hill" in East Kingston.

● A Notre Dame Nifty Via Charlie Galliano: With North Carolina in the lead by six points and a fourth down coming up for the Irish deep in their own territory, the team expected Bob Williams to call for a punt, but what he said to them was quite a shock. "Call," Bob told his teammates, "it's fourth down and we should punt, but we're going to pass. So be alert, this play may cost me my job! And Larry (Conroy), if you don't catch this pass, I'm going out the nearest exit, and won't even go back to the bench." P.S.—Conroy caught it.

● News From the Deer Front:
Frank Touse, shooting from the hip in a Jack Holt, bagged an 8-pointer last week. Nick LaLima accidentally toyed his small bird dog, "Midge," after a beautiful retrieve. It seems that Nick inadvertently deposited the stock of his gun on Midge's head and the dog went out for the full count.

St. Patrick's Academy of Newburgh has replaced Saugerties High on the K.E.S. basketball schedule. Guess Larry Cahill and Saugerties rooters got sick and tired of repeated thumpings by the Maroon. St. Patrick's is not in the pushover class, especially on their home boards. Their biggest achievement of the 1948-49 season was an upset victory over Poughkeepsie High.

Incidentally, when the DUSO League moguls rush up to embrace the returning Sam Galento, you can bet your old shoes they'll look past Sam's ears into the puck. They have Sam, for better or for worse. Leave us now pray!

Roamers Rally To Beat Sicklers

Ulster Park Roamers staged another second half rally to triumph over Sickler's Jammers, 52-42, last night on the Wiltwyck School court at Enopas.

Sicklers led 28-26 at halftime but R. Burger and J. Deora spearheaded the winning rally. Deora was individual scoring star with 16 points, while Burger tossed in 14.

Charlie Tampo led Sicklers with 13 points and Chris Renny accounted for 10.

Trumans Give Vent To Their Hobbies

Key West, Fla., Nov. 30 (A. P.)—The Trumans gave their favorite hobbies full play today at their submarine station retreat.

The president went in for long walks, paddling about in the waters of the gulf, horseback pitching and, so the grapevine had it, an occasional bit of poker.

These being the hobbies of the President, they have, recondite enough, become the hobbies of virtually his entire staff.

Simple daughter Margaret went around taking pictures.

Mrs. Truman, going in for more leisurely pursuits, relaxed in undignity. She enjoyed sitting under the palm trees in the spacious yard of the old commandant's residence that is the temporary White House. For excitement she sought the local torpedoes.

The President has started work on the "State of the Union" message he will submit to Congress in January.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the message is in the

Not much work has been done, however. The concentration so far has been on relaxation and

Noted Actress Dies

London, Nov. 30 (AP)—Dame Irene Vanbrugh, actress who was a dominating figure of the British theatre for more than half a century, died this morning. She had been ill only 36 hours and up to a few days ago was busy with preparations for the opening of a new play in London. She would have been 77 years old Friday. Her stage career extended over 61 years. Around the turn of the century she made several tours of eastern cities of the United States, her first New York appearance being in 1896 in "The Chill Widow" at the Bijou.

A toll of more than 100,000 lives has been taken by the Sicilian volcano, Mount Etna, since records have been kept.

Elliott Drops Retail

Hyde Park, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt has gone out of the low-rate Christmas tree street sale business—for this season at least. Some trees from the Roosevelt woodlands may be sold at wholesale but there will be no retail selling in New York city or elsewhere, a spokesman at the Roosevelt estate said yesterday. No explanation of the withdrawal from the retail market was given. Roosevelt and his wife, actress

Fay Emerson, now separated, personally sold trees at $1 each in New York city the last two years. Some other dealers protested against the Roosevelt venture, charging price-cutting.

Must Pay Alimony

Chicago, Nov. 30 (AP)—A wife seeking a divorce was ordered by Superior Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday to pay $5 weekly for temporary support of her husband, She is Mrs. La Verne Wahler, 31, a bank teller, her husband, George R. Wahler, 40, an unemployed salesman, is a partially disabled army veteran. Mrs. Wahler, in her suit, seeks temporary support, the family car, their apartment and attorney fees.
